The DIMMER VIEW

Did Sam and Alan Cross Paths While Nobody Was Watching?

Where did Sam go wrong?
When did Alan go right?
A couple of years ago they were miles apart in political philosophy. They still are. But somewhere along the line their pathways crossed each others.

They're still miles apart but for opposite reasons than they were when they started.

Sam, of course, is U.S. Senator Sam I. Hayakawa the noted semanticist who rallied the Republican voting power behind him with words and phrases that assured his supporters that he would perform as all good Republicans are expected to.

Alan is U.S. Senator Alan Cranston, the former foreign news correspondent who had long since become a Democrat leader who sang the lyrics of the Democrats theme.

How did Sam come to join those who wanted to give up the Panama Canal ala a Democrat?

How did Alan come to take heavy swipes at government bureaus and the sorry state of the Post Office ala a Republican? It is Sam doing Alan's job and vice versa. And somebody's going to be in trouble come election time.

Sam sent out a piece the other day in which he rapped the Environmental Protection Agency—an agency that certainly needs some corrections as your rights and freedoms are being eroded by them. But Sam was approaching it at an oblique.

He wants the agency to stop banning chemicals, specifically fungicides, until there is proof that they are hazardous to humans. He cites the harm that will be suffered by the agricultural industry while tests for toxicity and hazard to humans are being examined.

Meanwhile, Alan is out making speeches to the press (the California Newspaper Publishers Assn. in their Coronado convention earlier this month) in which he lambasts some of the agencies he and other Congressmen brought into being.

He wailed that a "Senate Bill (S1437) would arm the government with criminal sanctions to back up edicts, paperwork requirements and actions of 100,000 bureaucrats with law enforcement responsibilities in 87 departments and agencies."

He listed several of the most fearsome agencies this nation ever had. "Among them are the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA)—with its power to enter some 4 million work-places in the U.S.; the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA); agencies administering the Employee Retirement Income Security Act, and the Consumer Product Safety Commission, plus new administrative enforcement agencies that Congress may create to meet the energy crisis."

Sam, we believe, has been a disappointment to Republicans who supported him. His campaign words were stirring and promising, such as returning some of our lost rights and freedoms. In that respect he is much like President Jimmy Carter who cannot or will not find the ingredients by which Americans can revitalize their hope for a better tomorrow.

So a picture is beginning to evolve. We find Senator Hayakawa and President Carter with a common image—leaders who came onto the Washington scene promising much and producing little.

Then there is Senator Cranston who is beginning to sound much like Sam when he was campaigning. Whether he can deliver is anybody's guess.

It should be noted that Cranston is presently trying to correct some miscarriages that came at the hands of the U.S. Postal Service.

Specifically, on November 17, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) rejected a bilingual program grant request from a school in rural California because it arrived 2 days late. The deadline was November 15. The request was postmarked November 9—plenty of time to meet the deadline.

A week earlier HEW rejected, sight unseen, a grant application for a handicapped children's program in San Francisco that arrived 1-1/3 hours late. The plane carrying it to Washington caught fire and had to make an emergency landing.

"Said Cranston to HEW Secretary Joseph A. Califano, Jr. in his request for the matters to be reconsidered, "... the people's full faith in the integrity and fairness of the system will be diminished, if not destroyed, by (such) absurdities.

He called it "an icy blast of federal hauteur" but added, "Perhaps nowhere in our government is the need for common sense in administration more evident than in those agencies that carry out our vital missions for the poor, the sick, the elderly and the young."

He concluded, "Here we are attempting to coax the best of all possible efforts from teachers and school administrators who have important young minds in their charge and little time to waste as a mouse being teased and tormented by a bureaucratic cat."

If the Post Office is at fault, maybe Senator Cranston's energies should be in that direction.

In all, the let's-change-partners-and-dance scene may be productive of some useful, for a change.

Disappointed citizens can only hope.

These students will compete for cash awards of up to $1,000 in semi-final competition. The semi-finals have been set for April 4.

COUNCILMAN DALE BAILEY had his work cut out for him on Monday as he became the Lemon Grove Rotary Club's Chairman for the Miss Lemon Grove Pageant set for April 22 in the Lemon Grove Junior High Auditorium. The Rev. Bailey's first order of business was to accept the application for the first contestant, nineteen year old Rosalind Forman (left). Bailey was assisted by the current Miss Lemon Grove, Charlotte Gundersen.

License Denied S.V. Swap Meet

The Spring Valley Swap Meet at 6377 Quarry rd. has been refused the renewal of its operators license by Sheriff John Duffy.

Long a matter of contention among residents in the area, complaints have been registered over the years.

Duffy calls it "a convenient and major distribution point for stolen property."

He also listed traffic congestion and disturbance of the peace as a basis for the rejection in a letter to the meet operators.

County Tax Bills Deadline April 10

The county tax collector's office is preparing for the flood of second installment real estate tax payments expected to hit the administration center between now and this year's deadline of April 10.

Treasurer-Tax Collector, James E. Jones said more than half the total 1977-78 tax charge of $587,428,439 has already been paid. Nearly 80,000 taxpayers paid both installments before the Dec. 12 deadline.

Under state law, the post office cancellation mark is crucial in determining whether or not a payment was made on time. Jones urged property owners to mail their tax payments a few days early.

A 6 percent delinquency penalty and $3 for costs will be applied to payments postmarked or paid after April 10. Payments may be made at the cashiers' windows in Room 16, 1600 Pacific Highway, from 8 to 5 Mondays through Fridays. Jones said the 6 percent penalty is a straight 6 percent of the total installment and is not an annual percentage rate as some taxpayers assume.

Stubs for second installment payments were attached to tax bills mailed in October. Property owners who have misplaced their tax bills should call the tax collector's office at 236-3121 to find out how much they owe.

Jones reminded property owners that they are not excused from paying either taxes or penalties if for any reason they did not receive a tax bill.

Church Burglarized

$2,000 worth of recording and sound equipment was taken from the Trinity Presbyterian church, it was reported Friday.

L.G. Gets $126,000 Sales Tax Share

Lemon Grove City is feeling "fat financial cat." Iris Sankey, district member of the State Board of Equalization, said Lemon Grove would receive $126,529.99 this week as its share of the $147 million distribution of the March allocation of the sales and use tax receipts.

Sankey said California cities received $93.7 million and counties $16.8 million for a total of $110.5 million. Counties also received $27.6 million from the 1/4 percent local sales and use tax for the county local transportation fund.

The $126,529 is being added to the approximately $500,000 the city has on time deposit, Jack Shelver, L.G. City manager said.

The City will start paying for all of the services now provided free by the County after June 30.

CETA to Supply Four For L.G. City Work

Lemon Grove's City Council agreed to increase its staff at the regular meeting Monday night.

City Officials To Be Targets In Dunking Test

Ever want to dunk a councilman? Or a fire chief? Or a city manager?

There'll be plenty of chance during Old Time Days.

The Old Time Days Assn. has gotten signed agreements from all 5 councilmen, the fire chief and the city manager to take part in the event which will be held Saturday April 8.

A dunking booth will be set up in the carnival lot east of St. John of the Cross Catholic church and dunking experts may throw balls at a target. When hit, the target unlocks the platform on which an official will be seated. Immediately under him is a pool of water. Splash!

The project starts at 2 p.m. The schedule is in half hour increments.

Councilman Dale Bailey is on the platform first. Chief Bob Adams is on at 2:30; Councilman Dell Lake at 3; City Manager Jack Shelver at 3:30; Councilman Jack Doherty 4; Vice mayor Robert Burns, 4:30 and Mayor Jim Dorman at 5.

Watching and laughing will be free but a charge will be made for throwing the balls ... 3 for $1 or 45c a ball. Proceeds will help defray the Old Time Days expenses.

The carnival will be open Friday, April 7 through Sunday with all of the carnival rides.

Pre-sale tickets that will save 15-30 cents a ride will be available at 5 for $1 at several locations. Rides are 45 and 60 cents. Each pre-sale ticket is good for one ride.

Tickets are available at City Hall, Chamber of Commerce office, Dell Enterprises, Mobile Muffler, Broadway Hardware, Iliana Grooming and Marders.

Brenda Coberly, OTD official, said persons are needed to work in booths at the carnival. She can be reached at 287-1572.

When-and-where information will come from City Hall at 464-6934.

In other business, council decided not to take action on the vacation of an alley north of Broadway and east of Harris st. which is involved in an owners' squabble.

Agreed to support the Regional Air Quality Strategy.

Agreed to purchase a pickup truck to transport CETA employees and others yet to be acquired. They will do clean up (storm damage and drain opening) and other maintenance work.

Amended the business license ordinance to qualify the meaning of employees — particularly part-timers and to tighten up the rules on solicitors and peddlers.

Approved an urgency ordinance by which certain zoning requests would be fee-free where special use permits are needed.

Authorized City Manager Jack Shelver to commence recruitment for a planning director at a salary of $15,000-$18,300 annual salary.

Agreed to name the park now known as Osage or Skyline Park (east of Skyline at Jamacha blvd.) Eppeck Park after the James Eppeck family, longtime residents (1940) and former owner.

Transferred 12,000 gallons a day Sanitation District capacity to La Mesa due to separation of that part of Lemon Grove north of the freeway lost to La Mesa when Lemon Grove was incorporated.

Lemon Grove still holds title to 2.8 million gallons daily but is using only 1.5 million gallons of it daily at present.

The next council meeting will be April 4 at the Community Center on School lane at 7:30 p.m.

There's An Answer

by Mr. and Mrs. Norman Vincent Peale

Unforgiving Daughter
Q. My daughter is very bitter, unforgiving and refuses to have anything to do with me for the rest of her life.
I was a widow for two years and then I decided to marry a very nice man whom I had known for years.
His wife died three months after my husband. My daughter didn't approve of my getting married again, and I haven't heard from her for two years.
She said if I call her on the phone she would hang up on me. Please tell me if I should send her gifts or write her letters. This hurts me very much as she is my only daughter.
A. You had a perfect right to remarry despite of objections of a possessive daughter. Usually the problem is a possessive mother, but in this case it is reversed.
Don't send her letters, or gifts, for that will only give her further opportunity to reject you. Instead, work upon her spiritually in absentia, so to speak.
By that we mean, ask God for guidance. Then in strange ways that neither you nor we can think of, you will be given insight in how to reach your daughter. We have personally seen amazing results from the use of such spiritual techniques. Project loving thoughts toward her.
Though the girl is mixed up in her emotional reactions, she is open to the working of right thoughts. Ultimately such thoughts can reach her.
We have a booklet, "This Thing Called Guidance," which has helped others with problems such as yours and a copy of it is on its way to you. Anyone wishing a free copy of this booklet may obtain one by writing to us in care of Box 500, Pawling, NY 12564.

Vacancy Can't Be Filled
Q. I always felt I was a strong person and would be able to cope with most any kind of a situation, but this has really gotten me down. I can't throw it off. I lost my husband a few months ago. He was 54 years old.
We were very close, very happy. My two wonderful children and two grandchildren are so very good to me, and I have no financial problems. It's just that lonely vacancy that can't be filled. Please help me so that I may lead a normal life again.

A. We judge by your question that you are about 50 years old, still a young woman. You are, of course, under shock, and it is normal that you should feel lonely, with a great void in your life.
Give your husband back to God and accept your new status. Then believe that your life can still be rich and full. Thank God for your children, your grandchildren, your material blessings and your good health. Believe that you have many good years before you. Then go out into life and get active. God will lead you to new peace of mind and ultimately to new happiness.

Grief Is Eating Her Up
Q. My husband had an affair with my sister. It was not a brief encounter, but lasted several months without me even suspecting anything was wrong with my marriage.
He denied loving her and said it was purely sexual, once I caught them in the act. After weeks of despair I reconciled with him, for the children, all under 6 years of age. My problem is that I cannot forgive.
I don't trust or love my husband. As for my sister, I can't bear to think of her or hear her name. I can't forgive and forget.
The grief is eating me up more each day. What should I do?
A. You have been twice double-crossed — by your husband and by your sister. Actually, it is an evil compounded. And that you are terribly crushed is understandable. That you no longer trust your husband is also understandable.
Now here is where the advice is hard. To avoid corroding your own spirit, you have got to try to forgive and not hate. This advice is for your own good.
But this doesn't mean that an easy trust of these two people is to be suggested. Better keep your eye on them until they have proved that they are sorry for what they did and that they have stopped it.

You've got a tough problem. But with faith and strength of character you can handle it.
If there is something you would like to ask Dr. and Mrs. Peale to discuss in this column, write to them in care of Box 500, Pawling, NY 12564.

She Was Near Death, Paralyzed Today She is Beginning to Walk

Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Morris were returning home from a motorbike outing from the north part of the state on Labor Day, last year.

Rifle-fire mowed the couple down. Police inferred it to be another of motorcycle club warfare. Morris died at the site. Dolores Morris lay unconscious and paralyzed. The doctors indicated she would never walk again—even if she lived.

She lived. She had 4 months of hospital therapy and is under outpatient care. Today she is beginning to take steps unassisted and she drives her car.

She helps care for her son and three daughters in her Spring Valley home.

Her experience, she says, is closely paralleled by some of the material in Ralph Wilkerson's book, "Beyond and Back."

By Dolores Morris

There is "life after death." The book, "Beyond and Back" confirmed that for me for I had a spiritual experience when I underwent a tragedy that left me near death paralyzed.

Then a friend gave me the book to read and it made me realize that what I had experienced was not due to shock nor anesthesia.

The book also helped me to accept the passing of my late husband.

The book is so close to what happened to me that I can only say "Beyond and Back" can be a great comfort to those who have lost loved ones.

It's great to feel that life does not end at all but is a stepping stone to learning about the next life—for who knows when the time will come to meet death?

"We must be quick to admit that no one understands fully God's Will concerning the time of death. The question is not whether a person is healed, only the timing," reads a paragraph in the book on page 219.

It's good to know that others have experienced the same or close to the same thing as I. Mine was a traumatic experience. What happens after recuperation reveals new horizons.

"When a person comes back from the dead, he has a new sense of values. The dream house with the light-blue carpeting; a sleek, new automobile parked in the driveway; a twin-engined fibreglas cruiser bobbing in the marina are no longer items priority," the book says on page 219.

"A person does turn stronger towards God, for it seems that God gives us a second chance to finish what he thinks is important enough for us to return and complete," is an admonition on page 61.

Those who have suffered a traumatic accident should read "Beyond and Back." It will help to re-affirm one's faith in the power of the Supreme Being.

Janna Wagner has been named musical director of the United Methodist Church of Lemon Grove, it was announced by Dr. Dudley Johnson, pastor. She will oversee the choir, special music and the children's choir.

The announcement was made just before the Easter celebration go underway although she had been serving as the director since March 1.

Mrs. Wagner will lead the choir tonight in the Maundy Thursday program starting at 7:30 when a dramatization of the Last Supper, with a cast of 40 people, will be staged.

Dr. Johnson said Mrs. Wagner has several programs planned for the choir which she hopes to expand to 40 voices.

"Music is playing a significant part in the revitalization of the United Methodist church," Pastor Johnson said. He noted that an overnight mountain retreat is planned for September; a patriotic musical presentation is scheduled for early July, and a sizeable children's choir is in the making."

LoVV Claims Prop. 13 Would Make 'Shambles' Of Local Government

"Prop. 13 may seem like just what the doctor ordered, but it's really bad medicine," said Joan Rich president of the League of Women Voters of California, in announcing the League's opposition to the proposal in Sacramento this week.

"The measure could make a shambles of local government, would reduce local options in dealing with local problems and would result in an unfair distribution of the tax burden among local taxpayers."

Prop. 13 (the Jarvis-Gann property tax limitation initiative), would amend the State Constitution to limit property taxes to no more than 1% of the full cash value on 1975-76 tax bills. Only minor adjustments to the value base of existing property would be permitted until the property changes ownership.

Rich warned that Prop. 13's provisions regarding assessment could result in vastly different tax bills for people whose properties are worth the same amount on the open market.

Furthermore, she said, owners of more valuable property could wind up with lower tax bills than owners of less valuable property.

In addition, Rich pointed out, Prop. 13 makes no provision for reassessing property when its value goes down—for example, if a property is damaged by flood, fire or earthquake. In fact, the measure seems to prohibit such reassessment.

Sockers Face Mexico At Stadium Tuesday

The San Diego Sockers got their first taste of North American Soccer League action in 1978, and began final preparations for the game against Mexico's World Cup bound National Team on Tuesday at San Diego Stadium. Game time is 8 p.m.

With three-quarters of the team never having played indoor soccer, Coach Hubert Vogelsinger was happy with the showing in Houston which produced a win and a loss. The Sockers dropped their opener 10-5 to the Houston Hurricane, but played a tremendous second game, beating the favored Dallas Tornado 10-6.

The Sockers first outdoor game resulted in a 2-1 victory over the Tulsa Roughnecks in Oklahoma. Jean Willrich and Chris Horrocks scored the San Diego goals.

Mexico has been undefeated in its last eight games, and in the process has outscored the opposition by an overwhelming 36-6 margin. The forward line of Victor Rangel, Hugo Sanchez, and Cristobal Ortega has turned out to be one of the most potent in the world, and they are expected to be in the starting lineup against San Diego.

He must pin Lusk twice within 15 minutes to win. If he fails, Goliath must leave town.

In other bouts, there's a Mexican Death Match in which no fouls will be recognized. The match continues until one athlete cannot continue.

The match is between Moon-dog Mayne and El Falcon. Falcon will remove his mask for the first time in the Coliseum but he has ordered that there shall be no cameras in the building. Promoter Danny Millsap is complying with the demand.

Mariners, Roadrunners ...and Free Hotdogs Sat.

The San Diego Mariners of the Pacific Hockey League will be trying to inch their way closer to a play-off spot this week and have a good opportunity of doing so. The Mariners play the Phoenix Roadrunners at the Sports Arena Saturday night.

The Mariners have been playing well lately, they've won four of their last five games, not including last night's game.

The Mariners on Saturday beat the Long Beach Rockets 8-4 in a wild contest that saw the benches empty for a fight in the second period, and also saw 3 players ejected from the game.

The Roadrunners are in second place in the league standings. They have 39 points ... two points behind league-leading San Francisco. San Diego holds down third place with 32 points, while Long Beach is in the basement with 28.

The Mariners still have a chance of catching Phoenix and San Francisco for one of the two play-off spots. San Francisco needs only 6 points in their last five games to be assured of a play-off spot, while the Roadrunners need only 8 points in their remaining 8 games.

Win or lose, the Mariners will feed their fans in attendance at the 8 p.m. Saturday night game at the Sports Arena.

Each person through the gate will receive coupons good for four free hot dogs. It isn't the first time for this promotion at a Mariner game, and the fans are hoping it won't be the last.

Last time, more than 6,000 fans devoured nearly 15,000 hot dogs. Servomation will set up special hot dog stands around the Arena concourse to handle the "Dog Lovers."

1200 Darters in Week-end Tourney

The second largest international darting tournament held in San Diego—the 7th Annual St. Patrick's Day Tournament—drew 1200 participants from all over the world Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Defending singles champion Len Heard, a resident of Poway and formerly of Plymouth, England, placed second in the Open Singles event—the only San Diego County resident to place in the tournament's 5 events.

The contest was held in Balboa Park's Conference Bldg., where more than 100 darters took part for the $18,000 prize money.

The contest was held over a 3-day period. Top money winner was Jerry Umberger of Pottsville, Pennsylvania who won $2,600. Rich Kozloski, also of Pottsville, won the title formerly held by Heard. He also took $2,000 in prize money.

Volunteers Cited By Hydroplane Execs

Over 1,100 San Diego volunteers received recognition for their race efforts in Miami recently when the Unlimited Hydroplane Racing Commission presented the Race Sponsor of the Year Award to the City of San Diego.

"We are exceptionally pleased to be chosen over the other eight cities on the circuit," Dave Lippitt, treasurer of the Thunderboats Unlimited Club, told the Commission and their guests. "This trophy is a challenge for us to do even better next year."

The award, which is usually given to honor the city sponsoring the Gold Cup Race, was given to San Diego "in recognition of consistent and outstanding contributions to the progress of Unlimited hydroplane racing."

A special award was given to another San Diego resident, Bill Muncey, for his historic achievement as the sport's only six-time Gold Cup winner. The Atlas Van Lines driver was also named "Sportsman of the Year" for his 1977 racing record of 6 wins in 9 starts in a new boat. Muncey's 44 career victories make him the most successful chauffeur in Unlimited racing history.

Can Lee Trevino, the 'Merry Mex' Find Happiness at La Costa?

RANCHO La Costa—Loquacious Lee Trevino has won tournaments in Great Britain, Canada, Mexico, in his native Texas and several other states but never in California.

He has won 20 tournaments, including two U.S. Opens, but never the MONY Tournament of Champions, which he rates in the top 5, world-wide.

Trevino will try to rectify this shortcoming when he competes for the 8th time in this prestigious $225,000 tournament April 13-16 at the La Costa Resort Hotel, Spa and Country Club. First prize is a whopping $45,000.

You can't come any closer without returning empty. The Merry Mex has missed winning 4 titles here by a total of 5 strokes.

He was second to Gary Player by two pops in 1969, the first year this tourney was held at La Costa. Lee was one shot back when Jack Nicklaus and Bobby Mitchell played off in 1972.

The next year Nicklaus nipped Lee in a classic duel by a mere shot, despite Trevino's closing 5-under 67, the lowest round of the tournament. In 1973, Lee again was a stroke short when Al Geiberger and Gary Player played off.

The frustration has manifested itself in Lee's comments. "I want to win the MONY Tournament of Champions so bad, I would trade one of my U.S. Open titles for it," he said.

"Winning any tournament is important, but if you can win over a field that includes all the winners of tournaments for a year, man, that would really be something. Beating the champions, that's the name of the game—the champion of champions."

Trevino has picked an inop-

Kramer, Conner Get HoC Awards

Joel Kramer, a top performing senior on the San Diego State basketball team, and veteran yachtsman Dennis Conner have been elected co-Stars of the Month for February by the Hall of Champions Breitbard Athletic Awards Committee.

Kramer, who was honored similarly in February, 1977, earned a spot among the finest players in Aztec history, completing his career with 698 rebounds, fourth best on the all-time list, and 406 field goals, which ranks him ninth on the SDSU ledger. The Patrick Henry High product was voted the PCAA co-player of the week early in the month and at the conclusion of the season was voted the conference's player of the year in balloting skippers in San Diego's sailing fleet, Conner drew recognition for winning the Southern Ocean Racing Conference off Florida, generally considered the World Series of offshore yachting. He led in five of six races in his division to accumulate 2,098 out of a possible 2100 points. This was his 6th Star of the Month award, and in 1974 he was named the area's amateur Star of the Year.

Another Aztec cage ace, Kim Goetz, was granted a Certificate of Achievement for pacing the team in scoring with 473 points during the season and averaging 17.4 in league competition. A junior, he is expected to play a prominent role when State moves into the Western Athletic Conference next year.

A Certificate of Achievement also was earned by Cindy Moyer, 15-year-old La Jolla High student, who won a bronze medal in the junior ladies' division of the U. S. Figure Skating Championships at Portland, the first San Diegan to do so.

TAKE FIVE

by John E. Wirges

George Hall took up running ten years ago. From all indications, he has no intention of stopping. Last week he won "Master of the Meet" honors at the Naval Station hosted 11th Naval District Invitational Track Meet.

Hall is so far out in front, no one else was even mentioned for the Master's title. A check of the results will show you why.

George entered six events in outdoor meet, staged on one of the hottest days in San Diego history. The "official" temperature was 92 degrees, but the heat on the track at the Naval Station had to be at least half a dozen degrees hotter.

George Hall figured the heat hurt him in one race. The mile. "It was awful hot out there," he said. "I think I should have done better in the mile."

Of the 6 events Hall entered, the mile was the only one he didn't win. He came in second.

George won the 100 yard dash; the 220 yard dash, then both the 440 and the 880. Just to change his luck, he also won the long jump, an event he rarely enters.

With five wins under his belt, Hall answered the call for the mile run.

"Man, I was really tired," he remembered. "You could feel the heat. It was like a furnace. I just wasn't at my best."

The week before last Hall ran the Masters Mini-Marathon around NTC's Sail Ho golf works averaging a little over 7 minutes a mile for the three mile run.

After five victories under a scorching sky, Hall faltered home with a 5:35 mile to capture second place in that event. He was disappointed... most men would have died three events earlier.

George Hall is a Senior Chief Electrician and the CPO in Charge of Physical Training in the Recruit Training Command. He lives his work.

He started running about ten years ago when he received orders to Vietnam to serve as an advisor.

"We were all required to get in shape," he said. "I started running and grew to like it. It's a great hobby. You can run anywhere."

A life-long resident of Lemon Grove, Hall thinks it's a snap to run from his home in that fair city to his job at the Naval Training Center.

"You never know what you can do until you try," he grinned.

A veteran of nearly 20 years of Naval Service and standing well in the shade of 40 years, Hall is the ideal man to run the physical training program that prepares young recruits for the modern Navy.

He believes in what he teaches and practices what he believes.

Like last week when he won that 3-mile Mini Marathon? After the race was finished, Hall jogged around the course a couple of times. Not to work out a soreness or relieve a cramped muscle or anything like that.

He jogged the extra laps for the sheer FUN of it. Any guy who thinks like that deserves to earn the title Master of the Meet.

Season Opens April 1

Sprint Cars Launch Cajon Speedway Meet

The powerful California Racing Assn. sprint cars, who found their opening race a year ago rained out, are again scheduled to launch the 1978 auto racing season on the popular 3/8 mile paved Gillespie

Field oval. This will mark the 18th year of oval track competition at Cajon Speedway. And fair weather is predicted.

Sprint cars will do battle in an 8-event card with 20 of the speedy machines going post-ward in the 30-lap main event.

Other races include a 3-lap trophy dash, four 10-lap heat races, and a 12-lap semi main before the finale.

Most of the top S. California sprint car drivers are expected to be on hand, including defensive CRA titlist Jimmy Oskie, who escaped serious injury in an accident at El Centro on March 5.

The sprint cars will be but one of three types of cars featured this season on Cajon's banks. The popular El Cajon Stock Car Racing Assn. super stocks will be featured during the 32-race season with the U.S. Racing Club midjets listed for 5 events at the track. Opening night will be one of two events for the sprinters, the other coming August 19.

The super stocks will kick off their 1978 campaign on Sunday afternoon, April 2, with their annual inspection and practice session from 1 to 4. The event is open to the public without charge and will give local fans their first look at the many new machines. The first race for the stockers will be Saturday night, April 8.

Lake Cuyamaca At 775 Acres; Fish 'Anxious'

Lake Cuyamaca is at its highest level in many years due to the heavy winter rains. The lake now covers 775 surface acres, and there is a true island since water covered the dike on March 2.

The permit-tackle shop is open daily dawn to dusk, and the restaurant is open every day except Monday. Rental boats, motors, and tackle are available as is overnight parking for self-contained vehicles.

The 1978 trout plants have begun and will eventually total 30,000 pounds. 500 lbs. were planted in February, and 2,000 lbs. are planned for March with 1,500 lbs. already stocked in the first two weeks.

Lake Cuyamaca has plenty of breeding areas for bass and bluegill and lots of 12-15 pound catfish are becoming anxious.

The favorite bait for trout is still salmon eggs and cheese, but your favorite lures might be effective, too.

Mayor Says 'Thanks'

Dear Editor:

May I take this opportunity to thank those who assisted the Lemon Grove Fire Department during the recent fire at the Cornet Variety Store. Quick response from the Heartland-Mutual Aid Fire Departments was appreciated and a special thanks to Larry Scott, Manager of Winchell's who provided free coffee and donuts for fire fighters on the scene.

The VdO Plan

Dear Editor:

I commend you for your editorial appealing for qualified candidates for the Lemon Grove Board of school trustees — and all other school boards.

I'm taking exception to your statement: "Spring Valley depends on the capabilities of the County Board of Supervisors with no truly representative local group to front for its residents." We do have a representative local group. 15 outstanding citizens have been elected by the Valle de Oro community to assist with the implementation of our plan which was adopted by the Board of Supervisors late last August.

The group was preceded by the original planning group which was organized in 1972, then re-organized by the County in 1974.

Despite the set-back in 1974 the group continued to work for the goals which had been established.

These goals are shown in the Valle de Oro Community Plan and the newly elected Valle de Oro Planning Group will strive to maintain them.

Valle de Oro, as you know, encompasses Spring Valley, the La Presa district, Brookside, Casa de Oro, Rancho San Diego, and areas on Mt. Helix with post office address of El Cajon and La Mesa.

To shape a community from that large a geographic area and population — some 48,000 — is no easy task.

Sincerely,
Maria M. Reeder

AIP Condemns Treaty

Dear Editor:

The following Resolution was passed at our March meeting.

"The San Diego County Central Committee of the American Independent Party, assembled in regular meeting on March 16, condemns the various Democrat and Republican Senators for their treasonable decision in the Senate today in voting for a move step to give away our sovereign Panama Canal.

"We further condemn the unconstitutional action of President Carter for his treacherous leadership in promoting this outrageous treaty, and we hereby call upon Congress for an expeditious impeachment of James Carter from the office of the Presidency of the United States."

It is hoped that you will publish this Resolution in your newspaper as a reflection of the indignation felt by the vast majority of the people all across our Nation.

Thank you,
S. A. Mikalson, Secretary

Metric System; How it Works

By John Corbett

Q: How can those who are too old to learn a new measurement system expect to keep their jobs? I've always had problems with arithmetic, anyway.

A: If you're smart enough to hold down a job, you should have no problems. Even the illiterate curbside traders in India learned to use the metric units when their country converted . . . and they learned the everyday units in a matter of hours. The key to learning SI units is to forget the inch-lb units and do not try to convert back and forth from metric to inch-lb units. You don't need to use arithmetic; in fact, if you try to use it to learn the everyday metric units, you're learning the hard way.

If you happen to use measurement units on the job (and many of us do), find which metric units will replace the few inch-lb units you're using, then learn their sizes via the frame-of-reference methods, as follows:

Find a familiar object that is about the size of each metric unit you want to learn. Then practice until, each time a metric unit is mentioned, you get a mental image of the familiar object that is about the size of the metric unit. For example, the millimetre is a tiny unit that replaces fractions of inches and its size is about the length of the thickness of a dime. Each time you hear the word, millimetre, think: the thickness of a dime. Is someone mentions an item is 10 millimetres, just imagine about how high a stack of 10 dimes would be. If 20 millimetres is mentioned, think of the height of a stack of 20 dimes. Of course, if you need an exact measurement, you'll get a metric ruler to find the exact length.

Use a similar pattern to learn the 6 or 8 everyday metric units you'll need to learn, and soon you'll be thinking metric, which is the objective of your efforts.

Senlis House Moved To Heritage Park

The Save Our Heritage Organization (SOHO) has moved the Senlis House from 1536 Second ave. to Heritage Park in Old Town.

The cottage has been given to SOHO by Will Hippen Jr., so that it may be preserved as an example of the average person's home in San Diego during the Victorian Period.

The 4-room cottage is an example of the typical small home built in Southern California during the late nineteenth century. Windows and trimmings are representative of standard items that could be purchased at the local hardware store in the 1890's.

The Senlis house recalls a feeling of simple, yet gracious living in which small luxuries were accessible to the working man.

In 1894, Eugene and Lena Smith occupied the home. Eugene came to San Diego from San Francisco in 1887 and was employed as a gardener by Kate Sessions, San Diego's renowned horticulturist. At that time he was a graying man in his late thirties and worked as a gardener and cared for his wife who was committed to the State Mental Hospital in 1889. For the next 25 years, he rented the cottage in order to pay for her care.

Among the renters were a widow, Mrs. Arabella Reed, and a retired married couple, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Stanton.

In 1924, Eugene Senlis sold the cottage to Mrs. Josie Burks, who worked at Holz-wassers, a department store on Broadway. She lived in the home for a number of years. In 1930, the house was sold to Effa Greta Read who used it as a rental. By this time the structure had been expanded into two units, a feature which helped serve the growing need for housing during World War II.

Funds Available For Health Care

The first steps to find out if adult health care centers are needed in the County have been taken by the Board of Supervisors.

The Board unanimously approved a resolution to create an adult day health planning council which will develop a county plan. The formation of the Council and a plan are prerequisites for licensing any adult day health care centers within the county. Supervisors must also schedule a public hearing before any licensing can be done.

Under a new State law (Assembly Bill 1611), the Adult Day Health Care Act provides program funding for adult day health care programs.

It is an organized day program of therapeutic, social and health activities for senior citizens with physical or mental impairments. The objective of the program is to restore or maintain self care and serves as an alternate to being placed in an institution.

The County does not know if there are any potential local applicants who intend to apply for State funds.

If such potential providers exist, a report will be prepared, detailing all program and fiscal implications of conforming with conditions of the Adult Day Health Care Act.

There is $1 million in program funds provided by AB-1611 and $100,000 in facility preparation costs provided by a companion bill AB-1612.

An Ordinance of the City Council of the City of Lemon Grove, California, amending Section 7 of Ordinance No. 24, and Declaring the Urgency Thereof

The City Council of the City of Lemon Grove, California does ordain as follows:
Section 7 of Ordinance No. 24 is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 7. ADDITIONAL USES
(a) All uses permitted in the R-2 and R-2-A Zones are hereby permitted within the area subject to regulation by this Ordinance provided a special use permit for any such use is issued in accordance with the provisions of the Zoning Ordinance adopted as a part of this Ordinance.

(b) NO FEE SPECIAL USE PERMIT UNDER CERTAIN CONDITIONS

This Ordinance shall be effective immediately after its adoption and the City Clerk shall certify to the adoption of this ordinance and cause it to be published at least once in the Lemon Grove Review within fifteen days after its adoption.

PASSED, APPROVED, AND ADOPTED by the City Council of the City of Lemon Grove at a regular meeting held on March 21, 1978.

Ford 'Best Seller' in 1977

Ford was the best-selling nameplate in California during the 1977 calendar year, it was announced by Jon H. Deimel, Ford Division's California marketing manager.

"Ford registered 154,108 units in this state last year versus 149,779 for our nearest competitor," Deimel said in reviewing results compiled by R. L. Polk, a recognized industry sales analyst. "What's more, 1977 marked the 10th consecutive year in which Ford has led all foreign and domestic makes in California."

Deimel credited two new entries — Fiesta and Fairmont — with leading his division's impressive showing during the fourth quarter of 1977. "Our market penetration for the final three months of the year increased nearly three percentage points of industry in California compared to the year-ago quarter," he pointed out. "The fact that sales were up 23 per cent during the final quarter is strong evidence that buyers are endorsing our newest 1978 product offerings."

PERMANENT REPAIRS were made last week by Helix Water District on this "circumferential break" of a water line under Blossom lane. Helix Water Dist. engineer Harold Duncan said the soil around 8 inch transite water pipe set-fled during recent rainstorms and caused the street to cave in. He added the road base would have to dry out before repairs to the street could be made even though damages to the underground water pipe have been made.

Parking Ticket Bills Now Come With Drivers' License Renewals

Two residents of Imperial County have the dubious distinction of being the first of California's motorists to get bills from the Department of Motor Vehicles for unpaid parking tickets.

The names of the people were forwarded to DMV by the El Centro traffic court.

One is a resident of Brawley and the other from El Centro.

Under the new law which took effect on January 1, the two are being notified they will be unable to renew their vehicle registrations, which expire in April, until the violations are paid.

Sharon Hemker, supervisor of DMV's parking violation unit, says many more of the bills will be mailed in the near future. "As more and more traffic courts throughout the state convert to the program, we'll be receiving thousands of notices of those people who have outstanding parking violations," she said.

In addition to the normal registration notice being mailed, people with unpaid parking violations will also receive a list of the infractions. They can be paid either at DMV at the time of a vehicle registration renewal, or at the court.

However, motorists are reminded that if the fine is paid at the court after the renewal notice has been issued, a release must be secured from the court to give to DMV. If not, the department cannot renew. The registration can be renewed only upon payment of the fine to DMV or on receipt of the courts' release.

A $2 fee for each violation is included in the bill to cover the cost of processing by the department.

With more than a million outstanding parking violations recorded each year, it is expected that $15 million in revenue will be returned to cities and counties as a result of the new law.

Countywide Art Show To Draw 4,000

SAN DIEGO COUNTRY ESTATES — More than 4,000 artists in the greater San Diego County area will compete in the first annual San Diego Country Estates Original Art Exposition-Contest this month. Cash prizes, including a $200 first place award, will total $750, according to William Friery, president of the Estates.

All artists of the county, including members of art classes and organizations are invited to visit San Diego Country Estates throughout March to participate in the art exhibition or compete in the cash awards contest.

Chairman of the art exposition Mrs. Mildred Dilley of Santee, well-known Southern California artist and teacher, said the pictures must depict scenes at the Estates and be in one of four categories: Scenery, Western Setting, Architectural Beauty or portraits of skydivers who will perform March 19th. The pictures can be any size, of any media and must be completed and entered by noon, April 1st, at the San Vicente Racquet Club, San Diego Country Estates.

Lemon Grove, Spring Valley chairman is Elsie Hanserth at 469-7645. The Art Exposition will be highlighted by a picnic rally at the Estates Saturday when skydivers "The Skyrockets International" and the Marine Corps Recruit Depot band will entertain artists, guests and public. Mrs. Dilley suggested, "bring a picnic lunch, an easel and paint brush for a day of painting."

20 cash prizes are: $50 for first; $30 for 2nd and $20 for 3rd in each classification. The cash awards plus ribbons for 4th and 5th places will be awarded April 2.

Burglary Loss $3000

Gandiso Baquir reported to sheriff's deputies his loss to be more than $3,000 after a burglar forced open the front door of his residence with a screwdriver prior to 8:15 p.m. Friday.

Baquir, who lives at 435 Bluffview st., Spring Valley, listed in his loss 2 teevee sets, a microwave oven, movie camera, clothing, jewelry, tape recorder and 2 bikes.

He was at work when the burglary occurred.

The Welcome Volunteer

By Roger Hedgecock
Supervisor 3rd District

In late June and early July of last year, the local newspapers displayed a series of shocking headlines — "COUNTY TREASURY LOOTED!"; "PRIVATE AUDIT RIPS COUNTY DEPARTMENT!"; "BOARD TIES UP PURCHASING DEPARTMENT."

The San Diego County Purchasing Department spends $36,000,000 annually through more than 26,000 different purchasing actions. The 25 buyers for the County contract to buy everything from paper clips and newspapers to earth-moving equipment and fire engines.

The Purchasing Department, however, was rife with problems. For example, there operated an elaborate fraud scheme within purchasing which resulted in the loss of more than $54,000 of taxpayers' money. County staff attributed the problems in Purchasing to widely-inaccurate accounting procedures and a paucity of departmental leadership.

After the sensationalism of the headlines faded, pushed to the side by other news stories, the task of reorganizing the department still remained. Reorganizing to change things on the surface is a simple job, but, to do it so as to create a more effective and efficient operation is a much more difficult undertaking.

Enter an interested private citizen!

Joseph L. Howard, a retired resident of the San Diego community, stepped forward to volunteer his assistance in straightening out the beleaguered County Purchasing Department.

Howard came to the County with impressive credentials. Prior to retiring, he was known as Rear Admiral Howard, United States Navy Supply Corps. Admiral Howard brought 30 years of supply experience to the County with a specialization in purchasing / inventory management. To contract with a consulting firm of his calibre and expertise would have cost the taxpayers more than $20,000. Admiral Howard offered his services free of charge.

In less than four months Admiral Howard completed an in-depth study of the purchasing department. His report, totaling more than 100 pages, detailed 72 recommendations aimed at improving the effectiveness and efficiency of the Purchasing Department and its staff. The recommendations contained in his report are presently being implemented by the Board of Supervisors.

Government is "of the people, for the people, and by the people." It is not intended as a bureaucracy that is out of touch with the people it is meant to serve.

Admiral Howard's involvement with the County's Purchasing Department is a shining example of the impact that one interested citizen can have on the course of government.

County government needs your interest and input. Your comments, questions, and talents are involved so that government can serve you better. Every citizen has the potential of an Admiral Howard!

Admiral Howard deserves the salute of every citizen for his contribution to San Diego County.

Gloria Curry, Treasurer-Finance Director of Del Mar, filed petitions for the newly created office of San Diego County Treasurer-Tax Collector.

Curry gained nationwide attention by initiating legislation affecting all taxpayers and resulting in a substantial gain on interest earned on invested public money.

Car Incident Laid to Pusher

Scott A. Clark, a photographer who lives at 9228 Vista, Spring Valley has a $1,300 repair bill.

He was working on his van Sunday and left it unlocked in his driveway for 5 minutes while he went into his house.

When he returned, the car was gone. Someone had pushed it, he said, out of the driveway, over a berm and headed it down the hill toward Helix st.

The van went through a fence and into the lawn of the property of Vinita Moody at 9217 Vista dr.

Clark claims he had two wheels blocked and that someone had to remove the blocks and pushed the van over the berm and steered it downhill. His $1,300 loss includes damage to the Moody property.

He gave sheriff's deputies the name of a suspect.

JEFF BEAM accepts a $100 savings account from Spring Valley Home Federal Savings and Loan Manager Sandra Rubalcaba.

Spring Valley Samaritan Deeds Finally Rewarded

Good Samaritan Jeff Beam of Spring Valley finally had good deeds returned to him.

Beam was awarded a $100 savings account from the Spring Valley office of Home Federal Savings and Loan for putting out an after hours fire in the store.

At about 7:15 p.m. Wednesday, as power was restored from the late afternoon black-out, an adding machine in the savings and loan office short circuited. The machine caught fire.

At about the same time, Beam, the owner of Jeff Beam's Automotive and Towing of 9006 Jamacha road, was driving by the Home Federal office.

"I was in a tow truck", Beam recollected, "and it sits pretty high in the air. From that perch, I could see into the back of the office."

Ask Your C.H.P.

CHP Capt. C. M. Douglas

Last week Captain C. M. Douglas addressed the problem of towing trailers with class one driver's licenses.

If you have a question, no matter how insignificant it may appear to you, ask it. It could save you a citation — or it could even save your life.

Address your questions in care of this newspaper and please allow at least three weeks for your answer to appear.

This Week's Question:

Recently, I formed a neighborhood car club and wanted to know if there are any laws I should be aware of pertaining to a weekend caravan.

Answer:

There is one law you should be aware of. If you caravan anywhere outside of a business or residential district, there must be a distance of at least 100 feet between vehicles so as to enable any other vehicle to overtake or pass.

The adding machine was behind the teller's windows near the rear of the office.

Beam said he chopped through the office's front door, grabbed a fire extinguisher, leaped the teller's counter, and doused the flames.

Beam said he was reluctant to break into the savings and loan office since he had earlier been "burned" for his good samaritan antics.

"A Sheriff was also there on the scene," Beam said, "and radioed to the substation the silent alarm would be tripped. Had it not been for the sheriff there, I doubt if I would have done it."

Beam has had his share of problems with his samaritan nature.

Investigating an automobile accident, he pulled an unconscious woman from a demolished vehicle, returned it to look for more survivors, and was taken for dead by arriving firemen.

"I saw an infant's seat in the car and returned to see if there was a child still in there," he remembered.

Also he has collected law suits for other good samaritan deeds.

Awarding the $100 savings account to Beam, Home Federal's manager Sandra Rubalcaba told Beam, "We are really happy with what you did."

Rubalcaba said she believed an employee was using the machine right before Thursday's black-out and the loss of power caused the machine to jam.

"A key was depressed which indicates someone may have been using the machine when the black-out occurred," Rubalcaba reiterated. "When the power came back on, the machine shorted."

Median Income $9,790

567,961 state income tax returns were filed last year by San Diego County residents based on a median income of $9,790.

S.D. County is one of the state's 58 counties whose adjusted gross income was reported as $111 billion. Adjusted gross income does not include such items as social security, unemployment and welfare benefits.

Median incomes are those incomes half way between the highest and the lowest income. Of the 307,850 joint income returns filed in S.D. County last year, the median income was $15,455.

Three Here Win S&R Law Badges

Reserve Deputy Sheriffs Anita M. Durson and Michael W. Manos of Lemon Grove and Russell C. Day of Spring Valley have pinned on their badges after completing a 6-month Search and Rescue course on March 10.

Now a part of what Sheriff John Duffy calls his "modern day posse," the fully trained volunteers will be used primarily in searches and rescues in San Diego County's back country recreational areas.

Certified as peace officers, they will also be used occasionally in law enforcement roles, primarily involving crowd and traffic control.

Since last September they have attended classes two nights a week, plus a few weekends, and bought their own uniforms and sidearms.

They have studied such subjects as search and rescue techniques, including mountain rescue, first aid, communications, basic law and related law enforcement subjects.

They are now ready to be called out day or night in all types of weather to be of service to the community.

"And it never ceases to amaze me that they do all of this with no pay. Their only compensation is the knowledge that they are performing a vital service to their fellow citizens," Sheriff Duffy said.

Sen. Jim Mills Seeks Re-Election

California Sen. James Mills, the youngest Senate President pro Tempore in Senate history, will seek reelection, he announced.

Mills said that through his effort he has strengthened public confidence in state government.

The most sweeping set of reforms in California legislative history were made during his leadership of the Senate, he said.

"Since I became President pro Tem of the Senate in 1971, barriers have been removed that stood between public and news media access to meetings of the Senate and its committees.

"Senate committees were forbidden to meet to discuss or act upon legislation where the press and public were not present. The public has a right to know what its government is doing," he said.

Other changes instituted under his leadership and with his support were:

An accurate public record of how Senators are voting became available by roll call votes and their publication instead of the widely abused voice-voting system previously used which left the press and the public in doubt about the members' vote.

Public disclosure of the legislature's records including annual publication of the cost of operating the legislature. These reforms and other improvements instituted since he took leadership contributed to the recognition of California's Legislature as the best in the nation, he noted.

He said he will continue to seek changes that maintain the California legislature's position among the country's best legislative bodies if he is re-elected.
